

NEVADA GETS NOTHING.

The apportionment of funds for public land surveys was made last Thursday as follows: Arizona, $5,000; California, $10,000; Colorado $12,000; South Dakota, $25,000; North Dakota, $25,000; Idaho $35,000; Minnesota, $10,000; Montana, $50,000; New Mexico, $6,000; Oregon, $20,000; Utah, $5,000; Washington, $64,000; Wyoming, $30,000.

Nevada, it will be observed, does not get a dollar. Though the appropriations made by Congress were over a billion dollars, exceeding those of any country on the globe in peace or war, Nevada gets very little of the spoils. The appropriation made for the expenses of the Carson Mint were so small that the employees have to work for reduced wages or quit, though the Government made profit of from twenty-five to thirty-five cents on every ounce of silver coined at the Mint in the last year.

The Billion Dollar Congress gave Nevada nothing, not even the profits on coinage of silver, and the administration does not give any of its citizens a position, not even a clerkship in the departments, outside the State.

Both Congress and the administration discriminate against its principal product, yet the party organs expect the people to meekly submit to this treatment, and strain their vocal organs cheering for the party that is responsible for it.

The above is from the Reno Journal. It seems a pity that the Republican administration continues to give the Democrats ammunition to blaze at us, but then this has always been a peculiarity of the Republican administration as regards Nevada.

When Nevada rises up and makes the proper kind of a protest against the unjust discrimination against it, it will get better treatment.

The Eastern States get what they want by getting "doubtful" just before a Presidential campaign.

Perhaps Nevada might take a hint from their success in getting what they call for.

THE MINT REDUCTION.

It is never a pleasant thing to have one's wages reduced, and when the Government reduces the wages of its employees it does an unwise thing.

The Carson Mint has long stood at the head of the U. S. Mints for the efficiency of its work, and the small percentage of loss in coining.

The recent reduction of 10 per cent. in the wages of employees is not received with particularly good grace by them, because they argue in their own minds that while the men who toil by the heated furnaces and the women who perform arduous manual labor are reduced, the officers whose positions are by no means laborious, are getting their old salaries.

The salaries of the officers are fixed by law, and the salaries of the employees are not.

It is claimed that the wages here are larger than in the East. This is not really so when the extra cost of living is taken into consideration.

It isn't a good thing to have the reduction in wages thrown up in the face of the party in a campaign.

The wages of the employees of the Mints as well as the officers, should be regulated by Act of Congress.

When "Stonewall" Jackson's grave at Lexington, Va., was opened the other day for the purpose of removing his remains to the vault beneath the pedestal where his statue is, it was found that his uniform had turned from Confederate gray to blue.

The company owning the Reno Reduction Works have decided to rebuild.
